

60a

Dissection of the Digestive System: Cat

► PROCEDURAL INQUIRIES ◀

Dissection

1. What are the principal parts of the mouth?
2. What are the types of teeth and what is the function of each type?
3. What are the major glands of the mouth?
4. What are the parts of the pharynx?
5. What is the difference between the visceral peritoneum and the parietal peritoneum?
6. Where are the greater and lesser omenta?
7. What are the lobes of the liver?
8. Where is the gallbladder?
9. What is the relationship between the cystic duct, the hepatic duct, and the common bile duct?
10. What are the major landmarks of the stomach?
11. What are the major divisions of the small intestine?
12. What are the major divisions of the large intestine?
13. What are the rectal sphincters?

Additional Inquiries

14. What is the alimentary canal?
15. Which digestive system organs are accessory organs?

HUMAN CORRELATION:  Cadaver Atlas in Applications Manual.

Key Terms

Accessory Organs	Large Intestine	Rectum	Submaxillary Gland
Alimentary Canal	Larynx	Rugae	Teeth
Anus	Lingual Frenulum	Small Intestine	Tongue
Cheeks	Lips	Soft Palate	Tonsils
Colon	Liver	Stenson's Duct	Vestibule
Common Bile Duct	Mesentery	Stomach
Cystic Duct	Mouth
Dentition Pattern	Omentum
Duodenum	Oral Cavity
Esophagus	Pancreas
Hard Palate	Papillae
Hepatic Duct	Parotid Gland
Ileum	Peritoneum
Jejunum	Pharynx

Materials Needed

Cat
Gloves
Dissecting Pan
Dissecting Kit
Bone Cutter

